

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE – November 10, 2011

For Information, Contact: Brenda Seppo @ Operation Transformation - 810-966-8660

The Blue Water Area Churches are holding a Thanksgiving Service, open to the community, on Tuesday, November 22nd, 2011. It will be held at First Congregational Church, located at 723 Court Street, in Port Huron. The Thanksgiving Service will be an evening of worship, reflection and praise to God, in appreciation for His many blessings, protection and goodness. Everyone is invited to the free service, which will begin at 7:00 p.m. and conclude with a fellowship time (with light refreshments) following the service. Special music will include a selection by the Faith Christian Community Church Choir, a worship segment led by Rebecca Achatz, and a song featuring area ministers. It will also include a brief message by Rev. Thomas Seppo, Executive Director of Operation Transformation. An offering will be received to benefit The Salvation Army and Mid-City Nutrition (Soup Kitchen).

Blue Water Area Churches is a group of 58 churches in the area who worked together beginning with the EACH Initiative last spring, and have committed to working closer together throughout the coming years.

###